Soviet Spokesman Asserts Roosevelt Made Compromise

But Russia Cannot Get Compromise On Bomb And Disarmament Now

STATEMENT MADE IN COUNCIL SESSION (BULLETIN)

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Russia was challenged to lift her iron curtain as proof of disarmament sincerity today and a Soviet spokesman remarked that his country was able to "compromise" with the late President Roosevelt.

Another stormy debate marked the day's sitting of the U. N. political and security committee. The body finally voted unanimously to create a sub-committee for consideration of all pending disarmament resolutions.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—A Soviet spokesman declared today that Russia was able to compromise with President Roosevelt but cannot compromise with those against disarmament and atom bomb destruction.

The statement by Jacob Malik, Soviet representative to the United Nations Security Council, was a retort to British delegate Sir Hartley Shawcross who upbraided the Russians for keeping the world in a state of chaos.

Insists Compromise Aim

Malik, insisting that the Soviets want to compromise and cooperate for world peace, declared: "We reached a compromise with Roosevelt but we cannot compromise with Shawcross and his ilk who do not want to disarm and have the atom bomb."

Monday, meanwhile, became the apparent date for a showdown between Russia and the western powers on the Berlin blockade crisis.

The Big Three western powers set that day as the deadline for any new Soviet proposals on the issue which prompted the U. S., Britain and France to appeal to the security council on the grounds the Russian blockade endangers world peace.

Will Demand Action

If no new suggestions are received from the Kremlin by Monday, the western nations will demand Security Council action.

The exchange between Shawcross and Malik, who sat in for Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, closed general disarmament debate in the U. N. political committee.

Truman Pushes His Campaign For Farm Vote

Speaking Today In Wisconsin And Minnesota Areas — Gives Farm Program

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Oct. 13.—President Truman pushed his all-out campaign to capture the nation's farm vote into the upper Great Lakes states today.

The chief executive headed northward toward Superior, Wis., and Duluth, Minn., after a major address last night at Springfield, Ill.

Outlines Program

Mr. Truman outlined a four-point Democratic program of farm benefits in "continuing abundance" in his speech in the Illinois capital.

The president tore into the record of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress. He assailed Gov. Thomas E. Dewey at the same time. The chief executive branded his opponent as a "tool" of Wall Street. He asserted that Dewey is "lining up with some queer characters" he wants elected to control the new congress.

Mr. Truman said that "a man is known by the company he keeps." He declared that Abraham Lincoln would wonder at the leaders of the Republican party today. Earlier, the president paid homage to the memory of the great emancipator. He made a pilgrimage to Lincoln's tomb in Springfield and placed a wreath on the memorial sepulchre.

Mr. Truman's reception in the Abraham Lincoln section of Illinois confounded political observers traveling with him.

Program Presented

Tens of thousands of persons lined the streets and cheered the president as he rode through Springfield. The auditorium where (Continued on Page Two)

PROCLAMATION COMMUNITY CHEST

WHEREAS, the Community Chest is a truly American and democratic agency. Its purpose is to raise and distribute funds which will enable thirteen Red Feather services, including the USO, to function and serve in the community. It is not only efficient in that it greatly reduces the overhead costs and saves time and effort by raising the financial needs for operating these thirteen agencies for a whole year in a single campaign.

WHEREAS, the good citizens of our community are asked to come forward and support these character building, recreational, and charitable institutions. No one of us can deny the value of the services these various organizations render our locality. It is estimated that nearly half the families in the area are receiving some direct benefit through one or more Red Feather service during a given year, and the other half benefits indirectly through better community spirit and conditions.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John F. Haven, Mayor of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, do hereby proclaim Thursday, October 14 as "Community Chest Day", when the volunteer workers will begin their active work of solicitation for the thirteen agencies.

I also call upon the citizens of this City to receive the solicitor who calls at the home or at the place of employment with due courtesy and consideration. Remember they are volunteer workers, so be generous, and make their work as easy as possible.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have herewith set my hand and offered the seal of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, this 13th day of October, 1948.

Deadline Set On New Proposals In Berlin Crisis

Three Western Powers Set Monday As Last Day For Soviet Proposals

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(INS)—The big three western powers today set Monday as the deadline for any new Soviet proposals on the Berlin crisis.

If no new proposals are received from the Kremlin by that time, the U. S., Britain and France will demand Security Council action to end the blockade.

Western sources revealed that the Big Three reluctantly agreed to delay their demand for the council's condemnation of the blockade until Moscow has had opportunity to reply to queries by Argentine Foreign Minister Bramuglia.

Bramuglia, acting president of the Security Council, has sounded out both the west and the Soviets in the effort to obtain a solution to the present deadlock.

France also is understood to be insisting that an open door be left to continued negotiations pending a new Kremlin statement.

The Big Three have informed Bramuglia that once the statement is received they will consider it immediately. But they have indicated that Moscow will not be permitted to resume again the "merry-go-round" of earlier Kremlin and Berlin talks as long as the blockade is in effect.

Druggists Ponder Problem Of Sale Of Comic Books

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 13.—(INS)—The National Association of Retail Druggists deliberated a "weighty" problem today—the sale of comic books.

They pondered over the matter after their president, John P. Tripeny, of Casper, Wyo., charged that the druggists are peddlers of "guttermuck".

Tripeny said that parents and religious leaders alike have been aroused over the "sinister influence" some of the so-called comic books have on youngsters. He said: "These vicious periodicals have been found to infect the younger generation's mind with unsocial ideas, and in numerous instances they have abetted juvenile delinquency."

Wild suffered several fractured ribs, but was not hospitalized. The body of Mr. Smeltzer was removed to Hawthorne for burial late Tuesday.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(INS)—The Moscow radio asserted today that wartime Prime Minister Churchill's speech at Llandudno Saturday was full of "blood-thirstiness".

Churchill said that the U. S. must retain its atom bomb monopoly in order to prevent the Soviets from conquering the world.

It was delivered with a note stating that it had been recovered from an airplane wreckage near Ft. Nelson, B. C., Canada. The letter was in fairly good condition despite its misadventure. Due to dampness, the seams were all opened on the envelope and there were several black spots of some substance on it.

Governor Dewey Hits At Handling Of German Crisis

Truman Administration's Policy In Crisis Is Assailed By G.O.P. Candidate

By WILLIAM THIES
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

EN ROUTE WITH GOV. DEWEY, Oct. 13.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared today that an America strong at home and abroad is "a stark, grim necessity" in a world threatened by "aggressive forces."

In a speech prepared for delivery in Oklahoma City, the Republican presidential candidate hit again at the Truman administration's handling of the Berlin crisis. He promised to "uphold the hands" of the nation's representatives in the United Nations.

Dewey entered Oklahoma after speeches in Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois during the first part of his eight day campaign swing.

Tomato-Tossing Episode

He was the target of a tomato-tossing episode for the first time in his campaign last night. At Mt. Vernon, Ill., one ripe tomato thrown from a nearby shed-roof hit the rear platform of his railroad car and splattered on the governor. Another struck the camera of a Life Magazine photographer.

A rotten egg was smashed against a pullman door ten cars back from where Dewey was speaking at Beaucoup, Ill.

Dewey's Oklahoma theme stressed the importance of preserving and developing the southwest's oil and other resources in order to keep the nation strong. He said: "The plain fact is that strength—economic, military, moral strength—is a stark, grim necessity if we are to live and go forward."

Must Be Strong

And the governor added: "In order to be strong again, we are determined to cast off the shackles of confusion and defeatism and despair. We are going to (Continued on Page Two)

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The strange picture of Italian crowds cheering for a man who did more than anyone except Benito Mussolini himself to lead his country to near-disaster was witnessed in Rome.

In conclusive proof that a new type of Fascism remains an ever-present menace to Italy's stability, hundreds turned out to pay homage to Marshal Rodolfo Graziani when he was brought to trial on high treason charges and collaboration with the Nazis.

Unlike the war-crimes trials at Nuremberg and elsewhere in Germany, this is a strictly Italian proceeding. The world awaits with great interest the outcome. An acquittal or a minor sentence seemingly would bring into the open the fact that many Italians view with undisguised regret the passing of their dictatorship.

Opportune Time
 Graziani's trial comes at a singularly opportune time in the struggle of the western world to combat the spread of communism.

By coincidence it begins at exactly the same time as the prosecution of several scores of "cagoulards" in Paris. These men are accused of open participation in riots and disorders staged by a well-organized Fascist movement in France in the years before the war.

The strong Communist sentiment in both Italy and France naturally is demanding stern justice for Graziani and the Cagoulards.

While there is no other connection between the two proceedings, they come at a time when each of the two countries is torn by political dissension, strikes, almost insoluble economic problems and by the tug-of-war between the Western powers and Soviet Russia.

Graziani, described as being in good spirits despite poor health and long imprisonment, doubtless will defend himself as German Field Marshal did—simply that he obeyed Mussolini's orders as a servant of the army and the state. He will hardly be able, however, to deny an overbearing personal ambition which led him into a savage attack on Ethiopia in 1935 which temporarily dethroned Emperor Haile Selassie and enabled him to become viceroy.

Graziani also tried his luck with the Italian army in North Africa during the second world war. He had the ignominious distinction of leading Italian forces that the late Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel regarded as good enough only for cooks and dishwashers.

Stood By Mussolini
 He also was one of the few who stood by Mussolini until the end, serving as minister of defense in the last ramshead cabinet by means of which Duce attempted to save his tottering regime.

During the war days many unsavory stories were told of Graziani's personal brutality. There is no question but that the Ethiopian campaign, his high water mark in military glory, was a high water mark in personal brutality. He threw tanks and planes into operation against desert tribesmen who sometimes were armed only with spears.

War-time propaganda also said that Graziani ordered the torture of prisoners.

One such story said that the Italian field command was not averse to compelling Abyssinian captives to swallow concrete.

To Drive Into Chaos
 Whether Graziani's trial will delve into charges of this sort or confine itself to actually treasonable methods by which he contributed to Italy's entry into the war on the side of Nazi Germany is problematical.

It is possible that the all-Italian Tribune will wish to gloss over certain aspects which international courts brought out as evidence against the Nazis. It will be difficult, certainly, for the judges to overlook the fact that the defendant was cheered and applauded in the streets of Rome before his arraignment.

Looking At Life
 By Erich Brandeis

Well, we are right in the midst of our quadrennial Billingsgate again. (If my memory serves me correctly, quadrennial means every four years, and Billingsgate means fish-wives' talk, so-called after London's notorious equivalent of New York's Fulton Street Fish Market.)

Everybody is calling everybody else a crook and a glutton and everybody blames both the other candidates and their parties for all the evils of the world.

I have kept out of this mess pretty much, but last night, when there was a heated argument in my house, my guests being both Republicans and Democrats, I, as the host, wanted to find at least one point on which all could agree.

So I arose and, with proper gestures, blamed Henry Wallace and his Progressive Party for the fact that we haven't had any rain for several weeks and that my grass, my flowers and my shrubs were dying up.

They all agreed, and one of the more rabid anti-Wallacettes threw in an extra blame for him—he insisted that the Florida hurricane was also due to Wallace and his gang.

I couldn't see any particular reason for that accusation, except, perhaps, that Henry, Glen Taylor, Marcantonio and the other "Progressives" are talking so much wind that, naturally, together it would make a hurricane.

Incidentally, I re-read one of Aesop's fables last night. It was the one about the Old Man and His Sons.

You remember it well, don't you? An old man had three sons who were always quarreling with one another. The father often tried to reconcile them, and told them how foolish it was to quarrel. But his advice had no effect on them.

So one day he called them together and gave them a bundle of sticks, telling each to try to break the bundle of sticks into two pieces.

Each one tried without success, for the sticks were so closely and tightly bound together that no man's strength was sufficient to break them.

Then the father untied the bundle and told his sons to break the sticks one by one, which they were able to do quite easily.

Then he said to them: "My boys, you see how important it is to keep together. When you are united in the bonds of friendship, no one can hurt you. But if you quarrel and separate, people will be able to injure you."

And, adds Aesop, as his moral: "UNION IS STRENGTH."

All this name-calling and all those accusations made against one another by our candidates are stupid.

We here in America know that it is a lot of hokum and don't pay much attention to campaign speeches.

We here in America know pretty well for whom we are going to vote long before the campaign starts. We know whether an incumbent deserves another term just as the cleaning woman who sweeps the dirt under the rug doesn't fool an intelligent housewife very long.

But other nations don't know that.

If candidates call one another gluttons and liars and tools of Wall Street and merchants of doom—those people in Europe and Asia believe it.

Then they think that, just like those three sons in the Aesop fable, we are divided and they start in.

Washington Calling

Vinson Affair Dismays Justices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—It was Mr. Dooley, the gorgeously irreverent character created by Finley Peter Dunne, who remarked that the supreme court followed the election returns like ordinary mortals. Presumably the court can also follow the public opinion polls, which this year show so clearly how the wind is blowing.

That would in itself be enough to explain the dismay among certain members of the court over President Truman's proposal to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow to talk with Stalin. No matter how sincere the president may have been in his belief that such a move would help the chances for peace, it would plainly have had major political overtones.

Little imagination is required to visualize the chief justice returning from his mission, stepping from his plane and telling a waiting world that Stalin will co-operate for peace. While the resemblance to Neville Chamberlain's return from his visit to Hitler with "peace in our time" would occur to the thoughtful, the drama could have been counted on to capture the waning hope of a despairing world.

Focus Of Political Struggle
 The court would once again become the focus of a political struggle. This is deeply disturbing to some of the brethren on the supreme bench who believe that each excursion into extrajudicial activity weakens the judicial function and casts a shadow of doubt on the disinterestedness of the court.

There was nothing unorthodox about Mr. Truman's idea of a mission to Moscow. One leaves here about the same time every year.

The theory is that if someone could just sit down and talk with Stalin everything would be peachy. A splendid theory which never has failed to mislead.

Still Harry could hardly have failed this time. The most Joe could say would be "I don't like you but I don't like Dewey either."

But the Russians never will understand us. How can they understand a people who never know how an election is going to turn out?

So far 16 polls give the straw votes to Dewey but Harry is waiting to hear from the hay country.

The "Voice of America" put the straw vote results in Turkish, Armenian, Greek, Russian, German and Japanese. But they still come out 16 for Dewey.

Stand by for further information.

Central Figure

Two Hundred Rebels
 Last June twenty-second, to be explicit, a dispatch from New York City said that two hundred ministers of various denominations joined in a group letter urging young men to refuse to register in the Draft Act or enlist in the armed services of the United States. Among other things the letter said:

"As the early Christian refused to offer a pinch of incense to Caesar's image, so we believe that Christian youth in the United States today should refuse to grant even 'token' recognition of registration to this contemporary evil which means disaster for their country and their church."

Strange words, indeed, from the members of morality and justice. Strange words, advocating open disobedience to the law of the land. Strange words, aimed against the preparedness of the United States against possible hostilities with the greatest enemy of religion the modern world has known.

The only Caesar of today's world is the totalitarian dictator of the Soviet Republic—a worse enemy to Christianity than any tyrant of ancient Rome. In urging American youth to violate the laws of their country, laws enacted to protect the United States against the possible ravages of the modern persecutor of religion, these ministerial crusaders are offering much more than a "pinch of incense to Caesar's image." They are playing directly into the hands of his emissaries in the United States and offering aid and comfort to Moscow.

It is not hard to understand the appeal of such doctrines to the ignorant and youthfully credulous, but the spectacle of two hundred supposedly educated ministers of the gospel advocating open mutiny against the laws of their country is something of a problem for psychiatrists.

Treason In U.S. On Trial

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—Treason, the ultimate act of disloyalty, is the least punished crime in America. The founding fathers planned it that way, and planned it well, as the record shows.

Walked Away From It: Less than 40 treason cases in 170 years have been pressed to trial by the Federal government, and no one has been hanged.

One Swung High: Two traitors have been convicted by State prosecution. John Brown was hanged by Virginia. Thomas W. Deor was convicted by Rhode Island (he tried to seize the government) but was pardoned.

Quality of Mercy: Early presidents set the style for pardoning traitors. George Washington pardoned the leaders of the Whiskey Rebellion, and John Adams pardoned John Price who also took arms against the government.

People's Pardon: Popular feeling caused indictments to be dropped against leaders of the Homestead strike riots in 1892. For the same reason no indictments for treason were passed in other 19th century uprisings like the Railroad strike of '77, the Haymarket riots of '86, the Pullman strike of '94, etc.

Lesser Crimes: In our whole history there have been only nine cases where the specific charge of treason got very far in court. For the most part, men who rise against the government are finally convicted of riot, conspiracy, espionage, unlawful assembly and the like.

Words Without Deeds: Chief Justice Marshall directed a jury to acquit Aaron Burr who had conspired against the government, but was arrested before he could strike a blow.

Paper Proof: Magtibay, a Philippine insurrectionist, was acquitted although he held a commission in the rebel forces. The prosecution couldn't produce, as the Constitution demands, "two witnesses to the same overt act" of levying war.

Mixed Motives: A man named Lee sold arms to the enemy during the second war with Britain, but was acquitted. There was no evidence to prove the "intent" of treason. The court decided that he might be selling arms just to make money.

Couldn't Teach Him: Jefferson Davis, head of a rebel government which fought the U. S. for four years, couldn't be indicted for treason. The South had been recognized as a belligerent nation.

The British Model: When the authors of the Constitution tried to define treason, they found no ready-made law. The colonies had operated pretty much on their own. But British common law regarding treason was based on an old statute from the reign of Edward III. This statute declared that treason exists "where a man doth compass or imagine the death of our Lord the King, his Lady or Consort or their eldest son . . . or if a man levy war . . . or be adherent to the enemies of our Lord the King . . . giving them aid and support."

Setting It Down: But the founding fathers, all revolutionists themselves, didn't like the loose language. They decided against making traitors of Americans for "imagining" treason or for murdering the head of state or his family. They retained only the part about levying war, adhering to an enemy, and giving him aid and comfort.

Spelling It Out: Some of the right-wingers, like Hamilton, were for leaving the language vague. But liberals insisted on being very specific about what treason really was. Loudest debate in the Committee of the Whole was over the two-witness clause. It has saved half a dozen men from conviction.

Politics: Deep down in American hearts is the dread of governmental tyranny and misuse of political power. Chief Justice Marshall expressed this dread well but wordily: "As this (treason) is the most atrocious offense which can be committed against the political body, so it is the charge which is most capable of being employed as an instrument of those malignant and vindictive passions which may rage in the bosoms of contending (political) parties struggling for power."

As We Like It: But in a Democracy, the law is pretty much what the people want it to be. In 1946 the Supreme Court noted: "We have managed to do without treason prosecutions to a degree that probably would be impossible except while a people was singularly confident of external security and internal stability."

From Now On: But the country is getting less "confident of external security and internal stability." A treason case today might change the pattern of our attitude toward disloyalty. Not only the accused, but the whole American theory of treason would be on trial. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

GOLF INVALIDS
 Upon the tee four golfers stand. One has a blister on his hand; Another has an aching back; The third, arthritis pains attack; And I—the dismal truth to tell—The one alone who's feeling well.

I listen as each one complains. About his various aches and pains. And answer: "Stick as that, I'd say. You ought to be in bed today. Perhaps the miseries you endure, A stroke of two from me will cure."

No doctor, I, but this I know: Sick golfers quickly healthy grow. First take a stroke and then repeat. Golf's invalids are hard to beat. And so this fervent wish I pen: To play just once with healthy men.

JOBS UPON A TIME

WHEN WALTER REUTHER, president of the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, known less formally as the UAW, was a boy, he supplemented the family earnings (which were by no means large) by delivering newspapers. He was the second of five children, and his father, Valentine Reuther, drove a brewer's wagon for a living at Wheeling, W. Va. Walter began his labor-saving at the age of 10. His family have always been interested in labor problems. His father was a friend of the late Eugene Debs, and Walter worked for a steel corporation until he was fired for labor organizing activities. It was then he went to Detroit, where he completed his formal education and became a Napoleon in the labor movement.

Hints On Etiquette

It is customary to give a gift to the baby if you are asked to be a godparent and accept.

U. S. output of industrial effort soared to a record rate of $348 billion a year in the second quarter of 1948.

Now that's something. Or, is it? Measured in pre-New Deal dollars that would be only $148.3 billion.

If, on the other hand, we calculate it according to Chinese dollars, $3,976 quadrillion.—Somerset, Pa., American.

Two Dallas Flyers Will Seek To Break Endurance Record

Hope To Break Mark Of 721 Hours
In Air Established 13
Years Ago

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 13.—(INS)—Two Dallas flyers plan to take off from Love Field today in an attempt to break the world's endurance flight record of 721 hours, more than 30 days aloft.

The two flyers, Fred Viamont and Bert Simons, both veteran air-men of World War II, hope to remain aloft at least 1,500 hours. The old record of 721 hours was established 13 years ago by Fred and Al Key of Meridian, Miss.

Viamont and Simons will hop off in a Luscombe biplane christened "Miss Texas" and will be refueled from a speeding automobile at the nearby Grand Prairie airport. The pilots will lower a hook-and-line from their plane to pullup the fuel from the speeding automobile.

Probe Death Of Man By Scalding

UPPER DARBY, PA., Oct. 13.—(INS)—Police investigated today the apparent death of a man by scalding in a friend's apartment in Upper Darby.

Detectives said Frank Powers, 56, of Drexel Hill, was immersed in steaming water, his face barely above the surface. He wore a cap, shoes, trousers and a shirt.

The apartment tenant, John J. McGonigle, 46, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, was released in $500 bail as a material witness.

Police said McGonigle told them he met Powers, a waiter, in a tap-room and that the latter accompanied him home. After that, McGonigle said, he fell asleep, and could shed no light on Powers' death.

COMMENDS OFFICER

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna today received from Robert Fleming of the Fleming Music company, a complimentary note for Policeman Bush. The latter thought the store was a fire and summoned apparatus. They thanked Patrolman Bush for his prompt action.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By Ernest G. Osborne

WHY NOT TRY THIS?

"Little Boys Don't Do That"

"Boys don't do that!" "Are you trying to be a sissy?" "Here, play with this ball like a real boy." These and similar comments are ones that parents—especially fathers—use even in the first years of a boy's life. One often hears such first lessons in making "real boys" out of male children. And to most of us it all sounds reasonable enough.

Yet, what are we doing? First, we would seem to be developing the idea that boys are superior to girls. For we aren't so upset when girls play with what are thought to be essentially boys' playthings. In other words, boys' activities are all right for either sex but girls' interests are beneath the dignity of boys.

We are also depriving boy children of the value that there is in learning about personal relations through doll play. Youngsters have a chance to show their tenderness, carefulness and affection in their play with dolls. We say we want more fathers to be interested in their children. Perhaps one of the first lessons should begin in early childhood. Pushing baby carriages—doll or real—may contribute to the building of good family attitudes in the boy who will someday be a father.

Let's stop and think before we go on with the process of making our boy children think that some human interests and activities are beneath them.

WHERE DOES THE BRIDE'S FATHER STAND

"(1) Where does the father of the bride stand during the ceremony before he gives his daughter away? We were at a wedding recently where the bride came down the aisle on the left arm of her father who then stood between the bride and groom until he had given his daughter away. Was this correct? (2) May a married woman or a widow ever be a bridesmaid or must she always be matron-of-honor?"

Answer: The bride should come down the aisle on the right side of her father. At the end of the aisle she should relinquish his right arm, change her flowers from her right to her left arm and then slip her right arm through the groom's left arm and walk to the altar. Her father should stand behind her and when the clergyman says, "Who gives this woman to be married?" he should reply, "I do" and then take his seat in the first pew beside his wife.

(2) She may be either a maid or matron-of-honor or a bridesmaid.

Question: I have been told that I must not refer to my husband when speaking of him to acquaintances and neighbors (who call him Mr.) as Mr. Jones. Is this correct? Please set me straight.

Answer: To social equals, you should refer to him as "my husband". To friends, you must call him "John". Husband and wife refer to each other as "Mr." and "Mrs." only when speaking to those who have no social connections with them. For instance, in business, a man refers to his wife as Mrs. Jones and she speaks of him as "Mr. Jones" to his office workers. This does not imply that his employees are socially inferior but that first names are usually taboo in business.

Counter Charges In Suit Filed By Veronica's Mother

Actress Gives Her Version Of Argument Over Support
Of Mother

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.—(INS)—A crossfire of charges highlighted the support suit argument today between the peck-a-boo hair-do actress, Veronica Lake, and her mother, who is suing her daughter for $500 a month to make ends meet.

The mother, Mrs. C. Veronica Keane, produced yesterday a photo copy of a document Miss Lake said never existed. It was a contract purportedly signed by the actress in 1933, guaranteeing her mother and stepfather, the late H. Anthony Keane, $500 a week thereafter, "in consideration of their filial love and affection."

"Mrs. Keane also denied Miss Lake and her husband, Producer and Director Andre De Toth, "always paid the backlog due." She said: "When a lapse in payments made a backlog they never caught up."

Story of Actress

The actress' 47-year-old mother blamed De Toth for influencing Miss Lake in allegedly trimming her allowance from $115 a week to $50 a week—and finally nothing. Miss Lake however, declared: "I paid mother $115 a week until my stepfather died, and paid his funeral expenses. Then I paid her $50 a week."

"I've cut the allowance because I'm supporting my grandmother, my mother-in-law, two children, a nurse—and now another baby is due."

"This money trouble with mother has been going on for years. I

May Enlist For Duty In Local Area

M/SGT. Charles F. Walsh of the local U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting office stated today that the army is now accepting applications for enlistment and assignment to the U. S. Disciplinary Barracks, New Cumberland General Depot, New Cumberland, Pa.

According to Sgt. Walsh this gives men, who are fully qualified under the present army policy and who enlist for 3 or 5 years, the opportunity to serve in their own local area.

Men interested in serving at New Cumberland should visit the local recruiting office, room 208 in the Post Office Building.

work. They were quietly efficient. Each knew his or her own duties. Applied Psychology

"The children had also used a lot of applied psychology in getting the mothers there. So I think I was not the only mother to have a little pressure applied to get good attendance. We mothers shared confidences and were assured at the similarity of our experiences."

"From the time we arrived until we left with cordial invitations to come again soon, we were made welcome and happy by well trained children who would do credit to a high-priced finishing school. Not one of these children will have an impulse to sneer when 'the better things of life' are mentioned. Each one of them has received a precious incentive to try to live on a higher plane. Each child was able to be proud of his own room, own teacher and own mother."

Nancy Hanks Lincoln, mother of Abraham Lincoln, died at the early age of 35.

Parents-Teachers Hear Psychologist

Meeting in Hold At New Wilmington;
Mandatory Speeches
To Rotarians

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 13.—About 50 members of the Parent-Teachers association were in attendance at the Methodist church, Monday evening, for a talk by C. F. Eckman, Westminster College psychologist, on the subject "Psychology in the Home and School."

Mr. Eckman told parents that conditions around the home may hinder the student in his studies. He cited poor lighting, blaring radios and general confusion. He urged parents to check the health of their children if they are having school difficulties.

Mr. Eckman gave his opinion as to what constitute an ideal school and community.

The possibility of introducing ballroom dancing as a recreation and health activity in the schools was discussed but no action was taken.

The attendance award was won by the fourth and fifth grades taught by Mrs. Hazel Wilson.

Rev. Dalton Galloway, a missionary who is spending Sabbatical leave here, spoke on "India" at Monday night's meeting of Rotary. He told of the divisions among the people and of the contributions made by the church.

Committees in charge of the rodeo, November 16, met following the meeting. Identity of the speaker is expected to be announced next Monday.

WASHINGTON CALLING

he was to be nominated for vice president.

FDR took Justice Owen D. Roberts off the court to serve as head of the commission that investigated the Pearl Harbor disaster. President Truman persuaded Justice Robert H. Jackson to serve as prosecutor for the United States at the Nuremberg trials. Jackson was absent from the court for more than a year.

Many have felt a dangerous concept of the court was growing up, making it as a kind of house of lords with its members available at any time for special assignments of a delicate and supposedly non-political nature. The Vinson proposal fitted into that pattern.

In January there will be a Republican in the White House (short of some entirely unforeseen and highly improbable event) and there will be a Republican congress. While supreme court justices presumably purge themselves of their political affiliations, the fact remains that the nine justices were all appointed by Democratic presidents and with one exception they were themselves Democrats. The position of the court is certain to be contentious enough without any extracurricular activity.

United Lutheran Merger Planned

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Merger of the United Lutheran Church in America with seven other groups in the National Lutheran Council was in the planning stage today.

A recommendation calling for the merger was approved unanimously yesterday by the church's 16th biennial convention in Philadelphia.

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, church president, called the action "one of great gravity and possible historical significance."

Huge Membership

If all churches in the council combined, the membership would total 3,062,026, embracing all but the Missouri synod, which is not associated with the National Council.

Four groups in the council took similar steps early this year toward merger. They are the Augustana, Evangelical Lutheran, United Evangelical Lutheran, and the Danish Evangelical Lutheran churches.

Others who are members of the National Council are the American Lutheran, Lutheran Free, and Finnish Evangelical Lutheran churches.

Dr. J. W. Post Speaks On Cancer

Lions Club Hears Interesting
Talk At Weekly Meeting
Tuesday Noon

NEED FOR EARLY DIAGNOSIS CITED

Dr. J. W. Post, representing the Lawrence county unit of the American Cancer society, gave an interesting talk on cancer at the weekly luncheon meeting of the New Castle Lions club in The Castleton Tuesday noon, in which he urged early diagnosis and treatment of this disease.

Dr. Post explained that cancer is a growth of body cells which have gone wild, and that to date the best minds in the medical profession do not know the reason for it.

He expressed the belief, however, that some day cancer will be curbed, just as many other diseases which used to take a great toll of life. In the meantime, he urged his hearers to beware of any unusual growths or sores, persistent coughs, pain, or bleeding and to have a reputable physician make a thorough examination.

He especially warned against medical quacks, who claim to be able to cure cancer. There are only three known treatments for cancer: X-ray, radium, and surgery, and often these are not effective.

One new member, Clarence E. Kennedy, of the Wilkinson Tread Service, was admitted to membership.

It was stated that a service team from Fort Myer, Va., has been secured to play football here against another service team, possibly on Armistice Day night.

Guests included Charles W. Horcher, of Butler, Ralph W. Cunningham, of Volant, and John G. Calderbank, of New Castle.

New Type Of Lens Has Been Designed

New Cornea Lens Is Demonstrated At Meeting Held In Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(INS)—A new type of cornea lens, said to be superior to contact lenses, has been designed for use of near-sighted and far-sighted persons.

The lens, not much larger than a pea, was invented by Kenneth M.
Touhy, College of Medical Evange-listas, Los Angeles.

The cornea lens was demonstrated today at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology.

Its advantage over the contact lens is that the new cornea lens does not require any accessory fluid. It rests, instead, upon a constant layer of tears, about 1-50th of an inch thick, that cover the cornea of the eye.

In Experimental Stage
Dr. Touhy said the lens is still in the experimental stage and sold only under rigid medical supervision.

In another paper, Dr. Charles
B. Adams, Rochester, Minn.,
described curare, the ancient South American arrow poison, as a valuable new anesthetic.

He said curare, which paralyzes
the reflexes, is used to reduce dosages of anesthetics and it eliminates, in throat surgery, the danger of nausea, which follows gas anesthetics.

Retailers Oppose State Sales Tax

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Unalterable opposition to a state sales tax was voiced today by the Pennsylvania Retailers' Association.

Secretary John E. Means, of Lancaster, said a resolution adopted by the association's tax committee said a sales levy would have a detrimental effect on the economy of Pennsylvania.

The resolution was promoted by a report of the Pennsylvania
Chamber of Commerce recommending legislative consideration of broad based taxes such as sales or income levies rather than new imposts on business and industry.

The committee's statement said opposition stemmed from the "heavy burden which a sales tax would impose upon the average citizen of this state who must spend a large part of his income for necessities which would be subject to the tax."

"The effect of this," the statement asserted, "would be to curtail employment and result in lowering local real estate values and taxes."

The committee claimed difficulties in assuring compliance with a sales tax would result in a collection cost of between five and 10 per cent, the estimate was based on the experience of states collecting sales levies.

Japan's Diet To Name Premier

TOKYO, Oct. 12.—(INS)—An extraordinary session of Japan's Diet (parliament) is scheduled to vote today on a new premier.

Indications were a one-party rightist cabinet, without majority backing, would assume power.

Former Premier Shigeru Yoshida, head of the Democratic Liberal party, was expected to win the prime ministership for the second time since the war.

Notwithstanding their party's name, the Democratic Liberals are ultra-rightists.

Thurmond Renews Debate Challenge

Wants President Truman To Debate Civil Rights Bill With Him

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 13.—(INS)—South Carolina Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, states' rights presidential candidate, renewed his challenge today to President Truman for a debate on the civil rights bill.

Thurmond offered to meet the chief executive on the question in "South Carolina, Virginia, the president's home state of Missouri or on the capital steps."

The governor denied in a Lexington address that he and the states' rights had baited the Democratic party. He charged: "Truman and his gang are the ones who have baited."

Thurmond told his audience last night less than 12 hours after Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, had spoken in Lexington, that the GOP "will not carry a single southern state."

Around Hollywood

By RUTH BRIGHAM (International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.—When Wallace Beery hauls himself astride a horse and flourishes a couple of six-shooters, the expected cry of "take to the hills!" is replaced by Hollywood hollering: "Happy days are here again!"

Beery, on horseback, is a greater attraction than the half-men, half-horse centaurs of ancient Greece.

Film fans start drooling in anticipation of a passel of red-blooded adventure, and Hollywood perks itself up all over.

Big Business
Because Beery is more than a screen star. Beery is big business with three capital B's.

When the veteran actor—he's been climbing on and off horses at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the past couple of decades—begins a film, hundreds of "unknown" characters start sharpening pencils, scissors, chisels and other tools of their trade.

In the case of their newest film, "Big Jack," a story of an early 19th century bandit who terrorized Maryland and Kentucky, the first to begin work were studio research workers.

In Quandary
They had to find out how many spokes there were in a stage coach wheel. What did an 1808 butter churn look like? What was the prevailing "new look" among the buckskin and buckram crowd?

Answers to these and similar questions are transmitted to the men and women who actually reproduce these extinct items. Tailors, leather workers, gunsmiths, in addition to the small army of carpenters, painters and others who build and decorate the many sets, start to work.

"Beery rides again!" roars through the film colony. Sun-tanned cowboys begin cinching saddles and mosey down the old mesquite, or whatever it is cowboys do in preparation for some rip-roaring riding as members of Beery's gang.

No Dull Moments
Many of the picture cowpokes recall doing the same for his early epic "Viva Villa!"

And there is more than just hay

French Labor Scene Brightens Somewhat

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(INS)—The turbulent French labor scene brightened today with a back-to-work movement that restored almost normal railway service and brought in sight an end to the metallurgical strike.

But some dark spots still remain.

Communist-led coal miners in the north stayed out of the pits for the tenth day, and dockers at Cherbourg and Le Havre launched a 24 hour protest strike. Additional rail strikes loomed at Lyon and Dijon, in central France. Railroad workers in most parts of the nation returned to their jobs.

In Lorraine, where 35,000 metal workers were still out, an offer of a 10 per cent wage increase plus 5,000 francs (about $17) held out hope for a quick settlement.

The dock strike threatened the U. S. liner American and other ships arriving in French ports with several days delay in unloading. It was held back to permit the unloading of the Queen Elizabeth and the Mauretania yesterday.

Charges Against Mayor Lawrence Are Threatened

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—(INS)—

The political pot in Pittsburgh was boiling today with demands that impeachment proceedings be started against Mayor David L. Lawrence.

Al Florio, former Pittsburgh and Allegheny county police officer, said Tuesday he would demand a public hearing in city council at which he would charge Mayor Lawrence with malfeasance in office.

It was Florio's charge of police and political protection that brought on the recent grand jury investigation of racket operations in Pittsburgh, which resulted in recommendations for indictments against 64 alleged racketeers.

The impeachment demand followed an attack on Mayor Lawrence in city council Tuesday, during which Councilman Joseph A. McArdle charged the mayor with "flagrant dereliction" of duty.

McArdle had come to the defense of Police Inspector John J. Dean, who the mayor fired as a result of the grand jury's findings.

Mayor Lawrence ridiculed Florio's impeachment demand as the action of "a mental case that shows itself in a publicity mania". He added:

"The city is clean and will stay that way. No pressure from any strange combination of racketeers and disgruntled friends of racketeers will make any change in our course."

Japanese Health Experts Attack Public Bathhouse

TOKYO, Oct. 12.—(INS)—

Japanese health experts are attacking Japan's traditional community public bath as a source of disease.

The public bathhouse in Japan is the social center of many communities. Men, women and children bathe together in the Japanese baths, often attending in family groups.

A commentator, seeking a solution to the disease problem, said the situation could not be corrected without government aid, pointing out that:

The western style of bathing would be ideal, but is too costly for Japanese at present.

Water filters would help, but are not available.

A larger hot water supply would help, but the fuel shortage makes that impractical.

Uriah M. and Catherine Bernhart charged that their son, Uriah Jr., lost his hand when a bomb exploded during a fireworks exhibition.

The fireworks display allegedly was staged by John B. Rogers Producing Co., of Fostoria, O., the suit charged.

Leaders Discuss
'Aims Of Scouting'

Miss Irene Kirchner Conducts
Second In Girl Scout
Series

Miss Irene Kirchner, New Brighton, conducted the second in a series of Girl Scout training periods in the Y. W. C. A. Monday evening, when there was a large group of leaders, assistant leaders and council members in attendance.

Aims and Objectives of Scouting, discussed during the lesson period are: 1. to develop good citizens; 2. non-sectarian; 3. to develop a girl's ability; 4. service to others; 5. fun for all; 6. to build good health, resourcefulness and courage; and 7. good will.

"A Girl's Outlook in Scouting," which follows, was also studied: 1. making friends; 2. to be accepted by a group; 3. camp; 4. to furnish information on all subjects; 5. activities (varied); 6. ideals; 7. to find an understanding friend in the leader; 8. trust in older people; 9. training in everyday living.

Miss Kirchner also spoke about the qualities needed in a leader: the time, efforts and energy a leader puts forth. She said: "The joy of helping others and the satisfaction of a job well done are ample rewards." Time was given for questions and answers.

The first part of the instruction dealt with Girl Scout folk songs and dancing, in which all participated. These will be taught to the individual troops by the leaders.

Handcraft Period

Miss Alice Welther, who is responsible for handcraft, taught the group to make jolly cat bookmarks. An appropriate suggestion for the troops during the halloween season. The evening closed with a period of songs and folk dances.

Representatives were present from Bessemer, New Wilmington, Mt. Jackson and this city.

Sessions will continue this month, the next assembly being conducted in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. Monday evening, Oct. 18, at 7:30 o'clock.

During tests, railroad wheels are run as fast as 140 miles an hour.

TOMATOES AND HEALTH
Amateur gardeners are proud of the tomatoes which they raise in their own gardens.

Tomatoes are good for the health of those who raise them and also for those who eat them.

Exercise in the open sunshine helps granddads when he is working in the garden. Butch likes to help him. Butch probably blunders more than he helps but granddads doesn't mind.

They think it is wonderful when the first little green tomatoes begin to form. When they pick the first big round red one, they are as proud as Punch.

Tomatoes are one of our best sources of vitamins. They are valuable both fresh and canned.

They do not provide much nourishment but are rather filling. They do pretty well for people who are overweight. They satisfy the appetite but do not add any freight.

Persons Making Suicide Attempts Need Mental Test

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(INS)—

A noted criminologist said Tuesday that every person who survives a suicide attempt should be placed in custody and not released until given psychiatric observation.

He is Dr. Carleton Simon, criminologist of the International Association of Police Chiefs, who addressed the 55th annual convention of the association at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Dr. Simon reported that once every 30 minutes there is a suicide in the United States. He added that in New York City alone in the five years from 1943-47 inclusive, 2,728 men and 1,666 women had taken their own lives.

Mental Cases
"Analysis of the mental condition of those who have failed in efforts to destroy themselves, shows that a preponderant number were mental cases."

Dr. Simon recommended state enactment of compulsory psychiatry in every surviving case.

Statistics show, he reported, that the favorite suicide method of women is poisoning, by gas, or otherwise, where the majority of men's suicides are by hanging or firearms.

In all the world, he said, the highest per capita suicide rate is in Switzerland which, he said, may be tied in with that country's high percentage of thyroid gland ailments.

Dr. Simon spoke after Col. Franklin M. Kreml, director of the traffic institute of Northwestern University, said that more double-deck thoroughfares, such as New York's east and west side highways, offer the best solution to urban traffic problems.

Building Up U.S. Armed Forces To Assure Peace

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer said today the nation is building up its armed forces to assure "peace and security" in the world.

The director of the plans and operations division of the army general staff bluntly denied that the army is dictating U. S. foreign policy. He asserted:

"The role of the military is that of supporting these policies."

The general elaborated on the part of the armed services play in foreign policy by declaring on a Columbia Broadcasting system network show:

"The present situation in Europe is an excellent example. 'I don't think anyone will question the fact that the majority of the American people want our country to take a firm stand against further world aggression by any world power.'

"The army's every step, every plan is simply in the direction of being prepared to carry out the wishes of the American people and their government."

Small Illinois Community Will Go "All Out" For Popular Tribe Leader

HARVEY, Ill., Oct. 13.—(INS)—Everything's set in Harvey to welcome home the town's first citizen—Manager-Shortstop Lou Boudreau of the World Champion Cleveland Indians.

Harry W. Zahler, who is in charge of arrangements for the celebration, said today that "most of Harvey" will turn out when Boudreau returns from Cleveland.

Vecek To Attend

Zahler said, however, that the real celebration is scheduled for October 26. He said that Bill Vecek, club president, and Hank Greenberg, the Indians' vice president, have agreed to be present.

Zahler outlined the program for the formal reception. He said tentative plans call for an outdoor program at the high school football field "so the kids can join the show" and then a dinner and another program in the high school auditorium.

To make garlic bread to serve with a supper of a casserole dish and a green salad, mash a clove of garlic until it is entirely disintegrated. Now mash it into three or four teaspoons of butter or margarine. Cut a small loaf of French or Vienna bread into thick slices, but do not cut entirely through to bottom crust. Spread the garlic butter between the slices, and heat in a moderate oven until very hot and crust is crisped.

About 4½ quarts of milk are needed for a pound of cheese.

Community Chest

Question No. 2

How Does Everybody Benefit from the Community Chest?

Robert L. Meermans, executive assistant of the 1948 Chest campaign, states that the Community Chest theme, "Everybody Benefits—Everybody Gives," indicates the scope of the Red Feather services in the community. It expresses the idea that the man who gives and the man who receives may well be the same man. Studies of "who benefits" show pretty clearly that users of Red Feather services and contributors are very much the same people. "In this area we estimate," Mr. Meermans said, "that more than two out of every five families used one or more Red Feather service during the year. They are the direct beneficiaries. Actually, of course, every one of us benefits when we live in a town where community spirit and conscience really protect the young people, strengthen family life, provide health and medical services, care for the helpless, handicapped and needy."

The services of the Community Chest and the benefits can be briefly summarized as:

1. Greatly reduces overhead costs by conducting one campaign instead of thirteen campaigns.

2. It collects the funds, allocates and distributes to the agencies after a careful investigation by the budget committee.

3. It prohibits solicitations by agencies during the year, unless special permission is given.

4. Through the budget committee of the Chest, prevents unnecessary duplication of service.

5. It permits agencies to do a better job instead of devoting time to money-raising.

On Tuesday afternoon, members of the Seventh Ward Civic club met at Hyde's Drug store, with a good attendance. Manning Weller presided.

The annual banquet committee's report was received, showing the event was quite a success. Plans were made for holiday lighting of Liberty street during the Christmas season, the committee being headed by Frank Farone. This year the lights will be extended to Montgomery avenue, if possible. Program committee reported it is planning for a "public sing" after the lights are turned on.

Doctors To Examine Ward School Pupils

According to word from Mahoning school office, pupils of all grades from 2 to 9 received achievement tests on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Results of the tests will be used to guide their instruction during the coming school year.

SEVENTH WARD NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rainey and son Sammy are visiting with relatives in Youngstown.

This evening the Christopher Columbus auxiliary will have a regular meeting at 7 o'clock in Columbus hall. Mrs. Mary Iovanello is in charge.

Looking into a basket of pullet eggs in a store in the ward Tuesday afternoon we noticed one of the eggs somewhat flat on one side, with a raised formation thereon, looking like a sunflower.

Mrs. Mary Tabler, daughter Mae, and Mrs. Nellie Canby of Hodgenville, W. Va., are visiting the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ronk and family of West Cherry street.

Police today were trying to learn the identity of a person who last night broke the windshield and four windows in the auto of Charles Mason, 211 West Wabash avenue, while it was parked in La-chock street, near Liberty street.

One of the old land marks of the ward is being removed. Several frame buildings situated between Liberty and North Cedar street, on East Cherry street, are in the process of being razed. It is reported the buildings are about 80 years old. Some of the lumber is in good shape. Birds had carried lots of straw and other nesting material under the eaves of the buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McCann of West Clayton street have returned after a six days trip, when they visited with the latter's mother, Mrs.

C. M. Todd and family of Cameron, W. Va., and former's sisters, Miss Grace McCann and Mrs. Daisy Stewart, Rock Lick, W. Va. Mrs. Todd's condition seems a little improved. They brought back quite a quantity of black walnuts and hickory nuts.

Effort To Remove Ban On Making Records Collapses

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (INS)—A terse 23-word statement today collapsed strenuous efforts to remove the ban on manufacturing of new phonograph records.

It is reported the ban was imposed January 1 by James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, remained adamant after a week of conferences with seven leading disc companies.

Their joint statement announced: "The AFM and the industry representatives regret that the current discussions have failed to produce an agreement. No further meetings have been scheduled."

Thus the controversial Petrillo ban left manufacturers with what reportedly is a rapidly diminishing stockpile of records.

Executives Club Hears Fine Talk

Greek Diplomat In Address
On "Lessons Of Past"
Sounds Warning

Democracy is not something that is new or peculiar to America, Andre Michalopoulos, Greek scholar, warrior and diplomat, told members of the Executives club and their wives at the first dinner meeting of the year, held in The Castleton Tuesday evening. Greece had a democracy just as idealistic as ours as far back as the fifth century B.C. It was menaced by the same forces which menace it today, the oriental peoples of the east.

Mr. Michalopoulos was speaking on the subject, "Lessons of the Past," in which he pointed out the fact that there has always been an age-old struggle between the peoples of the east and west for supremacy.

It is not the struggle between Communism vs. Democracy, he stated, but Asiatic tribal aim for conquest against the democratic way of life.

Can't Appeal To People
You cannot appeal to the Russian people over the heads of their rulers, they are too ignorant. They know no other way of life than that which is imposed upon them. Under the Czar they had the same system, only under different people.

Communism is a dictatorship of the worst kind, he stated. It is organized graft on a grand scale. These at the top reap the benefits of the sweat and blood of an enslaved people. He likened the mass urge of the Russian people to a primal animal urge, in which swarms of animal life go in a mass to attack something, like the swarms of locusts, or army worms, or Japanese beetles, and leave nothing but destruction in their wake. The Russians have always wallowed in this low form of life, in which they have been taught blind allegiance to a leader, the tribal way of life.

They believe in the validity of conquest. They know nothing of America or democracy. To them, all that America means is that they are a nuisance to their leaders. They know nothing of the part America, Great Britain, France, and other countries played in their victory over Germany. The right to lead Germany of everything is a part of their oriental philosophy.

Communism is a horrible, vital force, which is on the move, he stated in conclusion. To combat it, we have democracy, but democracy is in grave danger of degenerating because we are losing faith. It is not so hard to combat communism in this country, because it is a subversive movement. But in Europe it is different. The destruction wrought by the Nazis cannot be overcome for years. The peoples of Europe lack the tools with which to rebuild an economic structure. Russia is using this fact to good advantage, by telling the European peoples that America is to blame for their troubles. The surprising thing is not that so many people over there are turning towards communism, but that they have kept up their struggle against it as long as they have.

Need Leadership
There is great need for leadership in the world today and there never was a time when the United States should be supremely great as now. It should be the leadership depicted by the American eagle, with an olive branch in one talon, and the thunderbolt in the other. "Battle that thunderbolt," he said in conclusion.

Orville Flora, the club president, called on Dr. Robert F. Galbreath to introduce the speaker. Mr. Flora announced the next meeting for November 8, when Harold Elde will speak on "My Alaskan Adventures."

Dewey To Name Secretary Of State Soon After Election

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, if elected president in November, is expected to designate immediately his choice for a secretary of state because of the international situation.

Cabinet selections usually are a carefully guarded secret until the eve of inauguration, but Dewey is expected to make an exception in filling the important state department post.

By so doing, Dewey's choice could work closely with the Democratic incumbent and thus continue the bipartisan foreign policy developed during the war and endorsed by the GOP presidential candidate.

The popular assumption has been that Dewey would select John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser to the United States delegation at the United Nations assembly meeting. Earlier Dewey has said he would select either Dulles or Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R) Mich., and chairman of the foreign relations committee, for the post.

Since then the conviction has grown that he would select Dulles, a New Yorker.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medically, this is known as increasing the "acid" of the stomach. This is due to the fact that the stomach is a non-stop stomach disturbance. This is due to the fact that the stomach is a non-stop stomach disturbance. Margaret Henry Home $16,000

Death! Divorce! Desertion! Mental illness! Separation! These are the insidious social factors that rob children of their birthright to be raised in normal homes. Salvation Army $4,500

To those without hope or faith, to those who seemingly are society's outcasts, The Salvation Army is ever a faithful friend, seeking to return value and meaning to life, giving courage to start again, to work again. Last year the Salvation Army gave direct material aid to over 2,000 individuals and families in the county. It gave counsel and advice to many more who were sorely troubled with family and personal problems.

U. S. O. $3,000

By the end of 1949 it is estimated that more than 2,000,000 young men will be in uniform, including several hundreds from our own communities. Each one is a mighty good reason why U.S.O. must serve again, bringing food to the snack-hungry, cheer to the lonely, and a touch of home to those far away from home. Our new soldiers need U.S.O. just as much as the old ones did.

Young Men's Christian Association $13,500

Thru basketball leagues, swimming classes, summer camps, gymnasium classes and other means the Y.M.C.A. develops the physical, social and spiritual well being of thousands of boys and men in New Castle and vicinity, many of whom would not be able to afford any other such opportunity.

Young Women's Christian Association $9,500

More than 3,000 women and girls participated actively last year in the social and recreational program of the Y.W.C.A. Many others were affected by the Association's work. An effective Y.W.C.A. is one of the most potent factors in developing girlhood into finer womanhood.

Elm Street Branch, Y.W.C.A. $4,000

Shenango Street Branch, Y.M.C.A. $3,500

These colored centers are probably the greatest influences in the community toward better and more harmonious racial understanding. Recreational facilities are utilized by a large portion of the negro population of New Castle.

Campaign and Administrative Costs $9,300

These costs are among the lowest for Community Chests of our size and type. The campaign is conducted entirely by local citizens who serve without cost.

Reserve for Contingencies $4,700

This amount is set aside to allow for uncollectible accounts where subscribers move away or cannot be reached and for unexpected emergencies that may arise to jeopardize the work of the Chest or any of the agencies.

Druggist Health!

NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, have for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results even days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS, Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth—Nature's laboratory. Contains NO drugs, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals

TENS THOUSANDS of years ago, an advice of doctors, to take mineral springs to get cured, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or cured by the minerals there. The minerals in it may work miracles.

WE HAVE all heard of the mineral springs of Lourdes, France, and famous thermal springs in ancient Greece, where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank the waters and healed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL, which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results

WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

GEO-MINERAL is not a physic, and does not interfere with the foods in the intestines. It gets down to the root, cleansing and purifying, throwing away poisons—gas, toxins, and blood. Not like physics, oils and cathartics do, but in a Natural, harmless, safe way.

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE you to try GEO-MINERAL. Go to your drug store NOW and get one bottle. Use it seven days. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money in full.

TRY IT! It may be the remedy you NEED! ... and making the best investment for your health. It even does wonders for you—when you eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

Mother Being Held For Observation By Buffalo Police

Mother Confesses Killing Of Two Children, Attempting To Commit Suicide

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(INS)—

A 35-year-old mother is under mental observation in a Buffalo hospital today after she reportedly confessed slaying her two children and then attempted suicide.

Police identified the woman as Mrs. Florence Skrzypczak, who was found unconscious in the attic of her East Buffalo home with her wrists slashed.

Found Dead In Bed The children, Daniel, 7, and Joseph Jr., 3, were found dead in their beds with strips of a scarf tied around their necks. Police said Mrs. Skrzypczak gave the children an overdose of sleeping pills and then strangled them.

Police quoted the woman as saying she feared her husband, Joseph, would leave her and take the children. She was temporarily charged with a violation of the Mental Hygiene Law to facilitate psychiatric observation to determine her sanity. Hospital authorities said her condition is not serious.

MOTHER'S CLUB

Eighteen mothers of pre-school children met in the home of Mrs. Charles Grunenwald on Monday evening, October 4. This was the first regular meeting of the season and proved to be both enthusiastic and inspirational. Mrs. Jones, librarian from the Mothers' room of the Youngstown Public Library, gave an informal talk on her experiences as a club program. An informal discussion by the group followed. A brief business meeting was held when it was decided to have the November meeting at the home of Mrs. John Ratovsky. Mrs. Jones was presented with a personal gift in appreciation of her program. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edward Grunenwald and Miss Marry Grunenwald.

GRANGE BOOSTER NIGHT

Booster night for the New Bedford Grange was held in the hall with a good crowd attending. The program consisted of two clever readings by Mrs. Earl McCluskey and Miss Mary Grunenwald, respectively, a duet by Miss Maxine Hollerman and Mrs. Tom Dever, and roll call. The topic for roll call was "How Do You Make Your Head Save Your Feet?" The business meeting was presided over by the master, Tom Dever. Mrs. Paul Brown has accepted the office of juvenile matron. Refreshments were served. On October 30 the grange and the Lions club will sponsor a community Halloween party for every one in the community.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING

The young women of the United Presbyterian church met at the church on Thursday evening for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Howard Spencer presided at the business session when it was decided to make wrap books at the next meeting. The remainder of the evening was spent finishing the project of painting the trays which had been started at the meeting last month. At the conclusion of the evening dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. William Biddle and Mrs. Howard Spencer. The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. John Anderson.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE CLUB

Mrs. Arrel Bradley entertained the Domestic Science club at her home on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Robert Ruby, who was in charge of the program, read an interesting paper on "Friendship." The varied roll call was answered to by those present. One of the features was a charade given by Miss Grace Anderson. It represented silver anniversaries to be celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McClung on October 24, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neal and Mr. and Mrs. Arrel Bradley on October 27. Mrs. Norman Hoye was the prize for the game of the afternoon. Tasty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Rowland Moore and Mrs. Robert M. Wallace, who were both special guests.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Wallace entertained at a buffet supper honoring the birthdays of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell, who with Mrs. George Fleming were visiting here. Eighteen guests enjoyed the dinner and social evening. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Frank Stoughton, Mrs. J. R. Moore and Mrs. G. A. Bradley. Following the dinner the honor guests were presented with a gift.

On Thursday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Fleming left for Columbus en route to their winter home in Florida.

PHILATHEA MISSION CIRCLE

Mrs. Laird Whiting received the Philathea Mission circle in her home on Thursday evening. Seven members responded to roll call. Devotions were led by Mrs. Lyle Richards. The topic for discussion was "Training the Youth of the Church for Service and How the Youth Can Help Their Church." The discussion was led by Mrs. John Holtzman and Mrs. Carl Wolford. The value of visual education was also discussed.

Mrs. Robert Wallace read a letter from Rev. and Mrs. Matthew Gilliland, who are missionaries in the Sudan. At the close of the business session the hostess served dainty refreshments.

NEW BEDFORD NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Beatty and sons, from New Galilee, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Geist and sons.

Mrs. George Dieter entered the North Side hospital on Sunday, where she underwent an operation on Monday.

Mrs. Grace Anderson left Monday morning for a trip to Missouri, Texas and California.

Miss Beverly Anne Roush, of Cortland, and Bruce Wallace, of New Castle, were luncheon guests of Norman Wallace on Saturday, when he celebrated his fifth birthday.

Mrs. Paul Shields, who was ill all last week, is much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cover, Jr., and sons, Mrs. Frank Cover, Sr., and Tad Shields visited Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Price, at Westlake, O., over the weekend. While there they attended the Icecapades in Cleveland on Saturday.

A Thank Offering service was held in the United Presbyterian church on Sunday morning instead of the regular morning service. Dr. James B. Cummings, who has just recently returned from Pakistan, was the speaker.

Several here have received letters from Rev. Galloway, who is a missionary in the Sudan, but is not stationed near the Gillilands.

Newell J. Moore, of Sidney, O., is visiting relatives here. On Saturday, Mrs. O. W. Bailey attended a dinner in his honor at Miss Ethel Moore's, in New Castle.

The brooch, an ornamental pin or ornament for fastening the dress, was much used in ancient times, and was worn both by men and women, both as ornament and for use.

Mystery Of Plane Now Cleared Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(INS)—The mystery of the "five-engined" plane reported seen over the eastern coast recently was cleared up today.

The Curtiss-Wright Corporation, with permission of the U. S. Air Force, announced that the plane is in fact a "flying laboratory" used to test its new T-35 "Typhoon" engine.

The "flying laboratory" is a remodeled B-17 Flying Fortress containing an extra engine in the nose of the ship.

The plane is motored by four 1200 horsepower engines which may be turned on or off at will while engineers test the strength of the single "Typhoon" engine.

Information as to performance of the new engine, however, is being withheld by the Air Force.

Yankees Sign Stengel As 1949 Manager

Veteran Given Two-Year Term

Stengel Will Announce New Coaching Staff Very Shortly, Will Make Changes

By LOU GARAVANTE
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Casey Stengel, new pilot of the baseball Yankees, said today he is going to "look over his flock" before making any changes.

Stengel, who signed a two-year contract yesterday to manage the New York American League base-

Game Of Year Here Friday

Not in a great many years, has a football game here had the interest of the fans, like the meeting Friday night at the stadium between undefeated New Castle and Farrell.

Anywhere you go in either city you can get an argument as to the relative merits of the two unbeaten and untied Class AA contenders.

SEASON RECORDS

New Castle	20—Eric East	0
New Castle	67—Butler	0
New Castle	19—Youngs, E.	0
New Castle	47—Sharon	0
New Castle	7—Har-Brack	0
Totals	179	0
Farrell	19—Westerville	0
Farrell	38—Meadville	0
Farrell	21—Vandergrift	0
Farrell	33—Young, H.	0
Farrell	19—Campbell	0
Totals	129	0

Adding zest to the situation is the fact that both teams have great defensive clubs, New Castle being unscathed in five games, Farrell but once.

That 6-6 Tie
Fans who saw the New Castle-Farrell heart-breaking tie 6-6 here last year will want to see this important WPIAL attraction. The Farrell blunder was the only mar on the New Castle Class AA card last season.

Spiking a rumor that Jasper Williams the star right guard was going to play Friday, Coach Phil Friedman said:

"Not that we wouldn't relish the use of this big strong youngster, but we do not feel that he is sufficiently recovered from his leg injury to use him."

At Top Strength
Outside of Williams, New Castle will be at top strength for the terrific tussle that is sure to take place. Farrell according to Coach Anthony Paulikas is also at top strength.

Both clubs will end their training Thursday with light signal drills. Both teams will be ready for "The game of the year."

Tickets went on sale here in New Castle today and will be grabbed up quickly. Farrell will send over 5,000 students and fans here for the game. Another crowd of over 13,000 is anticipated, perhaps a record for this year. The kickoff is 8 p. m.

Ray Evans Will Rejoin Steelers
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Tailback Ray Evans will don a Pittsburgh Steeler uniform for his first National Football league game when the Steelers meet the Yanks in Sharon on Sunday.

The former Kansas university star has been out of the lineup since he injured a rib in the Detroit Lions exhibition game.

Wyde Cuts Hand
Meanwhile, a cut hand which he injured in the Steeler-Redskins game last Sunday appeared likely to keep tackle Frank Wyde out of the lineup for Sunday's contest.

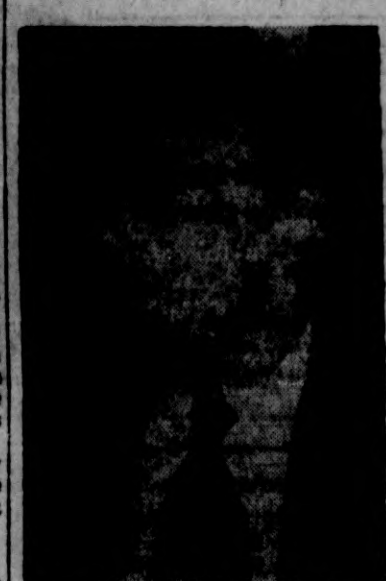

Along with Evans, however, the Steelers will have indestructible Johnny Clement who leads the league in ground gained from scrimmage with 223 yards in 47 tries.

THINGS HAVE COME TO PRETTY PASS

WARREN ACKERMAN, University of Arizona and from Honolulu, Hawaii, shows Joan Hugg of Tucson, how to pass. (International)

Harry Markson New 20th Century Boss

HARRY MARKSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Directors of the 20th Century Sporting Club, the boxing promoting organization, Tuesday appointed Publicist Harry Markson as managing director.

Markson, who has been chief publicity man for the club since 1937, succeeds Sol Strauss. Strauss heretofore had been acting director for the ailing Boxing Car Mike Jacobs. Strauss will remain as an advisor to Markson.

Immediately upon his appointment, Markson announced that Francis Albertanti, veteran sports press agent, will take over the club's press relations department.

Burton Re-Appointed
Markson also re-appointed Lew Burton as the club's foreign representative. Burton formerly held this post and was responsible for bringing Marcel Cerdan and Bruce Woodcock to this country.

The change in the 20th Century's "high command" was not entirely unexpected.

The rival promoting group, the Tournament of Champions, Inc., recently has taken the play away from the 20th by staging the Cerdan-Tony Zale middleweight title bout and then signing welterweight king Ray Robinson after he had promised to fight for the 20th Century.

A special price of 50 cents, including both federal and city tax, has been set for the regular side seats.

Tickets may be bought in advance through the high school principal or faculty manager.

Posters advertising the game have been mailed to all high schools in western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

This is the first affair of its kind sponsored by the university, and it is planned to make it an annual feature.

Junior High Teams Risk Clean Slates

New Castle's two undefeated junior high school football teams renew grid warfare Thursday afternoon against Junior W.P.I.A.L. opponents.

Ben Franklin "Patriots" seek their second win against the junior edition of the Farrell "Night Riders" at 3:30 at Taggart Stadium. Franklin demonstrated that they have another powerhouse this year when they defeated Ellwood 6 to 0 last week in their opener.

George Washington invades Butler for another Thursday afternoon encounter. Washington is unscathed in two successive wins against Ellwood and Sharon and plans to keep their slate clean against Butler.

Dowler's Leaders Wins First Place

Captures Thirteen Inch AA Male Class Of Beagles Event Tuesday

Thirteen-inch AA male class of Beagles was finished Tuesday at the training area of the Shenango Valley Beagle club. This was the second class of hounds to be run at the club's third annual licensed trial. There were 56 in the class. In spite of inclement weather Monday, game was found to be quite plentiful, and many fine runs were staged by the hounds.

The results of the 13-inch male class follow:

First—Dowler's Leader, owned and handled by R. Audley Dowler of Midway, Pa.

Second—McCauley's Joe III, owned by Jack McCauley of Florin, Pa., and handled by Joe Freed of Reading, Pa.

Third—Tar Heel Jake, owned by Grace Eyerod of Wadsworth, O., and handled by Earl A. Brown of Louisville, O.

MAXIE DOUGEN WINS BY KAYO

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Maxie Dougen, of New Orleans, technically kayomed Mario Trigo of Los Angeles in the seventh round before a sellout crowd at Olympic auditorium last night.

Dougen ever let down throughout the set. The fight was stopped because of mouth and nose cuts suffered by Trigo.

It was the 44th straight win for Dougen. He weighed 134 pounds while Trigo weighed in at 135.

REVOLVER CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

Important Games Faced By County Football Teams

New Castle And Bessemer Risk Undefeated Status Against Tough Opponents This Week

Lawrence county high school grid teams have three important home games and an away tussle on the week end football card.

New Castle's powerful "Red Hurricanes" runs up against some of its stiffest opposition to date when they play host to the undefeated Farrell "Night Riders". Farrell, always a tough, tricky eleven, played a 6-6 tie here last year against a favored New Castle team and will be out to notch their sixth straight win against a slightly favored "Cane aggregation."

Game time at Taggart stadium is eight o'clock.

Union vs. Shenango

Morally rejuvenated, Union invades Shenango Friday afternoon for the annual cross-county encounter. The Scotties played a scoreless deadlock with favored Zellenople last week in the mud and figure to continue to show an improved brand of football against their old rivals, the Wildcats.

Shenango, on the other hand, was held to a 6-to-6 tie with Evans City and is anxious to regain winning ways, which were enjoyed against Mercer and George Junior Republic.

This game is a toss-up all the way and should be a thriller.

Undefeated Bessemer plays host Thursday night to the "Centaur" of Zellenople.

If the Centaurs can outscore Coach Red Bender's eleven, they will become odds-on favorites to annex the Class B crown. A large crowd is anticipated for this important game under the arc.

In the away game Ellwood's "Wolverines" travel to Vandergrift. "Dutch" Croft's boys tasted victory against Sharon last week and liked it. They'll be shooting for win number three in a Friday night encounter.

Tired Indians Leave For Homes

Cleveland Gives Champion Indians Mammoth Celebration On Return Tuesday

CLEVELAND, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Tired Cleveland Indians—tired and exhausted after the city's most gigantic home-coming celebration—began to depart today for their homes throughout the nation.

Still left behind, however, was the job of cleaning up the city following the spectacular reception tendered the 1948 world champions on their return from Boston yesterday.

Real Demonstration
Police estimated that between 200,000 and 500,000 persons hailed the Tribesmen as they paraded five miles down the city's main thoroughfare in open cars yesterday.

The welcome was said to be the largest since Cleveland played host to Franklin D. Roosevelt several years ago.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

DUQUESNE GARDENS, Pittsburgh, contained a wealth of little sidelights Monday night, when Rusty Payne stopped Curtis Sheppard in nine rounds. Joe Walcott, defeated by Champion Joe Louis recently, and Emard Charles, a light-heavyweight crown contender, were introduced from the ring, Jersey Joe drawing the most applause. Johnny Ray, in his day, a contender for the lightweight championship, and who handled Billy Conn in Conn's losing venture against Joe Louis, seconded a preliminary fighter Fritzie Zivlic, welterweight champion a few years ago, handled Chuck Gibbons of Ellwood City, to a four round win over Ted Phillips. Jake Miniz, manager of Emard Charles, now hot on the trail of Freddy Mills and Gus Lennovich, circulated throughout the 5,500 fans present. En route from Pittsburgh to New Castle, Here & There met Tappy Cantanese at Monaca. Some years ago Tappy was prominent in night club circles in Cleveland. While in Koppel, Here & There met Sammy Santillo who boxed under the name of Sammy James in the Jolly Bowl in the 30's. Inquiry about Curtis Morial, a good amateur of those days, and his manager, Froggy Maguire brought from Sammy, the response they both reside at Koppel. Morini is married and rearing a family. The discussion shifted to former amateurs and Here & There readily agreed with Sammy that, Ray Atkins of Ellwood City, who lost his life in the war, was one of the best, if not the best amateur hereabouts, in the early 30's.

Although Frankie Moran won from Martin Doyle in a grueling eight round fight here recently, he yet shows the scars of battle, one of his eyes having been almost completely closed and a long gash inflicted above it. As soon as the "Lamp" heals he will resume training for another bout here. No big improvement in Chuck Gibbons was noticeable in his fight with Phillips. He hasn't been in Fritzie Zivlic's stable long enough to absorb the finer points of boxing. His aggressiveness and harder punching defeated Phillips, who, judging from his partially bald plate, is a veteran. Crowds are flocking to places where sports events are presented by television. This column is read by some of the feminine gender. For instance Mrs. F. of the West Side, has inquired as to whether or not one can legally shoot a snake while it swims in water. The answer is "yes," because reptiles devour fish. Rose Mooney, captain of the Elliott Steelers' bowling team, reports the Friday matches at Ambridge, have been postponed until Sunday night. Last Friday night Miss Mooney's team lost two and won one match at Ambridge. Indications point to everybody and his brother being at the City Baseball league banquet October 30, in The Cathedral where some well known at Pie Traynor, Bob Chernes, Chet Smith and Cal Hubbard will speak. Denny Schill of Ellwood City, will be the toastmaster.

Bessemer Leads Tri-County Loop

Bessemer High school with football over Evans City and Union Township, in their only two Tri-County Conference engagements, are resting in first place at this date. In second place with two victories and two ties comes Zellenople. Victories were scored over Evans City and Shenango while the contests with Union and Mercer both ended in scoreless ties.

Marc, with a victory over Mercer in their only league game, have scheduled insufficient Conference games to be eligible for championship consideration.

3 Games This Week
Conference games this week pit Union against Shenango on the Shenango field, Evans City against Mercer on the Mercer field, and Zellenople against Bessemer on the Bessemer home gridiron. This latter game will send either Zellenople or Bessemer into undisputed possession of first place and a commanding lead toward championship honors.

The standing:

	Won	Lost	Tied
Bessemer	2	0	0
Zellenople	2	0	2
Marc	1	0	0
Shenango Twp.	1	1	1
Evans City	1	1	2
Union Twp.	0	1	1
Mercer	0	1	2

Spikes Rumor That Owen Will Lose Job

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Jack Mara, president of the New York football Giants, spiked rumors today that Head Coach Steve Owen may be replaced because of the club's continued failures. The Giants, who finished in last place in 1947, have been beaten by Washington and Philadelphia in their last two games. Mara told newsmen that "these fellows Steve and Bill Owen and Red Smith have their jobs as long as they want them."

The Giants meet the champion Chicago Cardinals Sunday and the outlook is dark.

Marve Rickert Forgotten Man

No Provision Made To Pay Rickert For Services In Recent World Series

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Still undecided today was the case of Marvin Rickert, Boston Braves, world series left-fielder. His team-mates have left the hub for their homes without taking action on the matter of voting a share of the series players money to Rickert, who substituted for the injured Jeff Heath.

Observers predicted that any financial reward coming to Rickert for his part in the series would have to come through the efforts of Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler.

Chandler To Act
The commissioner was in Boston yesterday and reportedly said he wanted to see Rickert get a square deal.

However, a ruling by the commissioner bans the Braves from making any extra payment to Rickert for his world series play. The rule bans bonuses for players starring in the series.

It was reported, however, that the commissioner has the power to hold up payment of the players' shares.

Auto Damages For Auto Crash

Court Continues In Court Room Number
One And Two

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Cornel G. Preston was awarded $100.00 by the jury hearing the case against Robert Hay in Lawrence County Court on Tuesday.

Mr. Preston had sued for damages to his car caused when his car and that of Hay met at the corner of Delaware and Garfield avenues. The case was heard in Court Room Number One before Judge W. Walter Brahm.

In Number Two the case of Michael W. Ritter against Nels Olson continued. Mr. Ritter asks large damages for injuries sustained when he attempted to extricate his car from under a car which had been placed on a private road by Mr. Olson, near Chewton. This case is before Judge John G. Lamoree in Court Room Two.

A damage suit against the Shenandoah Valley Transportation Company went to trial before Judge Brahm in Court Room Number One.

The case as originally drawn was that of George Benson, wife Ethel, Caroline Benson and her husband, Donald, Donald Benson, Jr., and Helen Benson. The defendants asked that Ethel Benson be made a co-defendant and her name was dropped from the plaintiffs. It is charged that on September 21, 1947, Ethel Benson was driving the family car on Sampson street, near State. She claims to have sounded her horn to pass a defendant bus when the driver made a sudden left turn. In attempting to avoid a collision she ran into a tree injuring the plaintiffs.
